REPORT: Special Lecture on the TOPIC: WOMEN's SAFETY

Program details:

Anchoring: Dr. Swapna Jadhav

Welcome Speech: Dr. Sheela Bhaskar (Women Empowerment Cell secretary)

Address to students: By teaching staff

a) Dr. Savita Kotbagi (IQAC Coordinator)

b) Shri. Dattatreya Hegde

Presidential remarks: Shri.M.D.Mattimani (Principal)

Note of Thanks: Shri.S.N.Mahipati

In the address talk the IQAC Coordinator highlighted on aspects like

Fear and Public Perception

In India, women are generally afraid of violence. A lot of women feel insecure in public places. India's Peace and Security Index reflects this anxiety. This suggests that women's perceptions of safety have significantly decreased.

Comparative Evaluation with Other Nations

India's record on women's safety is worrisome when compared to other countries. For example, although women's safety has improved in many nations, India still has high crime rates. Approximately 88 rape instances are registered every day, according to NCRB data, with many more probably remaining undetected. This presents a dismal image of the safety of women in the nation.

Specialised Support Centres and Helplines

The government has established a number of helplines and support centres to offer prompt assistance. A 24-hour emergency response service for women in need is the 181 Women Helpline. One-Stop Shops: These facilities provide comprehensive medical, legal, and psychological help to women who have experienced assault. Cybercrime Portal: A way to report online abuse and harassment that makes it possible for women to get assistance online.

ACTIVITY 5

REPORT: Special Lecture on the

TOPIC: "AWARENESS on WOMEN's SAFETY IN THE PRESENT SCENARIO and JUDICIAL/LEGAL FRAMEWORK"

A team of women police, from the sub-urban police station, Hubballi , Karnataka visited the college and addressed the students.

Some key points from the advice given by the Women police are as below :Important Legal Clauses

Several significant statutes are part of India's legislative framework for women's safety:

- 1) The 2013 Act on the Prevention, Prohibition, and Redress of Sexual Harassment of Women at Work: This law requires companies with more than ten workers to establish Internal Complaints Committees (ICCs) in an effort to provide a safe workplace for women.
- 2) The 2013 Criminal Law (Amendment) Act: It included harsher punishments for sexual offences, including the death sentence for repeat offenders, and was known as the Nirbhaya Act. Additionally, it established new offences including voyeurism and stalking.
- 3) The 2005 Protection of Women Against Domestic Violence Act: In addition to offering civil remedies to shield women from abuse at home, this statute gives a thorough description of domestic violence. For the protection of women in India, the National Human Rights Commission (NHRC) highlights the necessity of improved law enforcement and safety audits. In order to improve women's safety in India, the legal system and judicial remedies are necessary, but actual improvement depends on successful execution and social change.
